Dear Uncle

I finished my sketches about Hiramilton on the 5th Inst. and should have informed you immediately but Cousin Samuel I Owing was going down to attend the Temperance Jubilee and I concluded to send the manuscript to Sister Beft by him. But that is now postponed. Still if you had rather it was sent down so you could go the other way and see your family. I expect I can find a chance of sending it down shortly.

I have copied the best parts of his letters and had to make numerous corrections. They abounded in much bad grammar and some erroneous transposing of figures of speech. Which showed plainly such composition was entirely new to him. that he had no practice in such writing. Still with all their defects they indicate natural talent and if his parents had been literary instead of commercial he would have made an elegant writer.

1511 Mr Fairbairn says what I have would make a book of 120 pages of the size and print of the Hon Waddy Thompsons book about Mesico. As I believe I informed you before I extended ^{it} on purpose to give myself practice in more lengthy composition than any I have ever been engaged in to prepare myself for writing other things. I have in contemplation. Any part of it deemed irrelevant and tedious can be left out very easily.

My next labour of this kind will be to give some sketches of one Jacob Funk a noted man in his day who at one time set the sheriff and his posse at defiance and for some time defeated all attempts to take him. He was at last captured being taken while fast asleep and secured before he could make resistance. We had him in our jail nearly 6 months. He was killed in 1886 in Tozwell county Kansas while in the act of resisting the sheriff. But I expect as like as not you have seen him.

The Funk family lived many years in Fayette county in this State some 8 or 9 miles from Washington.

A gentleman in this place a Doctor started to New Orleans shortly after I commenced writing about Hamilton and while he was gone he thinks he learned from a police officer what Hamilton's real name was but I do not think the description suits Hamilton. The following is from the officer. "Tall, dark brown hair long nose a little aquiline, very gentlemanly in his address and appearance once a merchant in and a native of New York a celebrated counterfeiter and negroe stealer in the South Had a career a noted burglar in the Ohio Penitentiary named Buck." According to my recollection Hamilton thought a spare man was not a tall man. I have forgotten whether his nose was aquiline or not.

I sent you a paper containing some account of Jacob Hunt. I was a little boy when he came to where we lived in the big cotton Mr Hunt sale lived in before he moved in his new frame house to sell Hatter some pork. I stood in the chimney corner and heard him narrate by adventures to Brother Wright as he called Hatter. It remained in my memory 34 years before ever a word of it was written.

Nor should I have ever thought of writing of it had it not been for our mutual friend Howe. He heard me telling about it and ~~assured~~ insisted on my writing it for his Ohio Historical collections. Be kind enough to send me a line and inform me whether I shall send the manuscript to Dr. Keft or keep it until you come. and if you come when shall we look for you.

I remain with sincere esteem your friend

Thos. Coke Wright
